Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I am unhappy with the proposed settlement. I would expect a settlement to meet the following criteria:

-- provide redress to the companies affected by the past and ongoing monopolistic practices of the Microsoft corporation

-- restructure the Microsoft corporation to separate operating system and application development

-- require the new companies to document their software interfaces and adhere to recognized international and national standards

-- require Microsoft to provide financial compensation to companies affected by its monopolistic practices -- note that this does mean providing Microsoft products to schools, which simply extends its monopoly

Respectfully,
Kathleen Wilhelm
